

HOME HAPPENINGS

—The Canfield Dancing Club will hold a party in town hall Saturday night.

—Old Glory was much in evidence about town Tuesday—Washington's birthday.

—Locally Washington's birthday was observed by the schools, the bank and the postoffice.

—A meeting of owners of crypts in the Canfield mausoleum will be held in town hall next Monday afternoon.

—On Tuesday Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Reed pleasantly entertained a number of relatives at their home on South Broad street.

—Canfield Lodge, I. O. O. F., will confer the initiatory degree next Wednesday evening. All members urgently requested to be present.

—At a meeting of the village board of education last Friday night it was decided to make a number of changes at the union school building along the line indicated by the state building inspector.

—The Dietricks, magicians, musicians and entertainers, gave the fourth number of the lecture course in the Methodist church Tuesday night. The program present greatly pleased a good-sized audience.

—Canfield appears not to be the only place where complaint is heard of low gas pressure. Kicks come from all parts of the state where gas is used when the temperature drops.

—The few farmers in this neighborhood who still make maple syrup are preparing to open their camps. At the rate forests have been disappearing it will not be many years until sugar camps are only a memory.

—The Altimo Gas Co. on Tuesday moved a part of its equipment to the Lynn farm where a gas well will be drilled. There is little doubt of a strike being made as several good gas wells have been found in that locality.

—Winter and spring weather mixed it up the past week. Monday morning the mercury registered around zero and Tuesday morning the temperature was up 30 or more degrees. Wonderful climate is this, sure enough.

—The regular monthly meeting of the C. W. B. M. will be held at the home of Mrs. Alexander on South Broad street Thursday afternoon, March 3. All members please make an effort to be present and help make the meeting an interesting one.

—On Wednesday Miss Ida Nolan Reynolds of Des Moines, Iowa, began her work as director of the county normal school in Canfield, succeeding Miss Maud Harrold, who resigned on account of the death of her mother. Miss Reynolds is well qualified for her work and the school is sure to progress under her administration.

—A pair of trucks under the tender of the locomotive which pulls the Niles & Lisbon passenger train jumped the track about a mile south of the village Monday morning and tore up the rails for a considerable distance. The passengers were transferred to a train sent from the Mahoning division and a wrecking crew from Youngstown spent several hours before the derailed locomotive was again put in the running. This was the third time within a few months that the passenger train has been held up at the same kind of accident.

—In renewing his subscription to The Dispatch Rev. J. C. Schaaf of Prospect, O., formerly of Canfield writes: "Canfield has a right to be proud of the part she plays in giving New York state her present governor. Canfield is all right, although somewhat handicapped. A new trolley line would certainly make her more widely known and more useful. We are enjoying our Prospect on the Scioti, within an hour's ride of the state capital and trains every hour each way. We never forget our home and friends back in Canfield."

—At a meeting of the joint high school board last Saturday evening they considered in detail the directions of the state building inspector in regard to the use of the Normal building and chapel. It was decided to employ a competent architect to inspect building and estimate cost of repairing and modernizing same. Provision must be made for the necessary high school rooms, two rooms for the increased attendance in the union school and the closing of the room in fall next year and a gymnasium. The plan is to learn authoritatively whether the building will permit of remodeling and whether it can be repaired at reasonable expense.

—Mrs. Sarah Lower, widow of the late Jacob Lower, died last Sunday shortly after noon at the home of her daughter, Mrs. R. J. Crockett, on North Broad street, of infirmities incident to advanced years. Her age was 90 years. She was probably the oldest resident of the village and was highly esteemed by all who knew her. She was a member of the Canfield Methodist church. Deceased is survived by her daughter, Mrs. Crockett, one son, John Lower, of Ellsworth, two brothers and one sister, Jefferson and Henry Diehl and Mrs. Catherine Wilson, all of Ellsworth; six grandchildren and nineteen great-grandchildren. Funeral services were held Tuesday morning at the Crockett home, and later in the Ellsworth Methodist church, Rev. J. V. Haskell being in charge. Interment was made in the Ellsworth cemetery.

—Mrs. Anna Belle Mayer, wife of Fred Mayer, died last Friday morning at her home in the western part of Canfield township of a complication of diseases. Deceased was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Ewing and was born on the farm where she died October 31, 1876. Six years ago she suffered a severe attack of inflammatory rheumatism and never regained her health. She underwent two surgical operations and everything possible was done to save her life but her condition grew steadily worse until the end came. On April 20, 1909, she was married to Fred Mayer who survives her. Mrs. Mayer early in life united with the Canfield Presbyterian church and was active in its work. She was a quiet unassuming woman and endeared herself to a wide circle of friends. Funeral services held from the family home Sunday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock were conducted by Rev. T. L. Kiernan, assisted by Rev. J. V. Haskell. Interment was made in the village cemetery.

—Orlando Overhulter is building an ice house for L. Callahan.

—The Canfield basketball team will meet the fast Youngstown West Side Athletic Club five in the American gymnasium Saturday evening at 8:30. The same evening the high school girls will play the girls team from the Leetonia high school.

CANFIELD HIGH WON TWO GAMES

Last Friday night in one of the fastest basketball games played on the Canfield floor this season Boardman High was compelled to carry home the short end of a 17 to 19 score. Boardman started scoring by a lead of 7 points within a few minutes after the game began. It appeared that the sickness of captain and guard Chubb was to lose us another game. Scott was then shifted from guard to forward, where he handles himself creditably and Hamilton was sent to guard. This proved Boardman's undoing. Hamilton and Anderson, with fine guarding, stopped Boardman's scoring while Scott and Klyne alternately shot baskets until three points in the lead. Canfield has now won both boys' games over Boardman. The girls' game was closely guarded on both sides. The ball was passed from one end of the floor to the other only to be intercepted and returned to the other in the same manner. At end of first half the score was 2-3 Canfield. When the whistle called the game the score stood 9-5 in favor of Canfield.

Death of Mrs. Stallsmith
Mrs. Hattie Stallsmith died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. N. L. Kenrich, No. 802 West Main St., about seven o'clock, Thursday morning, aged 73 years. Interment will be made in Bunker Hill Cemetery, in Goshen township, Mahoning county, after brief services at the Kenrich home. Mrs. Stallsmith had been visiting her daughter since Thanksgiving and about five weeks ago suffered an attack of grip which terminated in heart failure.

She was born in Goshen township, Mahoning county, July 24, 1842, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Stutler, and was married to Hiram E. Stallsmith in June, 1859. He died on March 4, 1913, after a wedded companionship of nearly 54 years. She is survived by her son, Charles Stallsmith, of Ellsworth township, Ohio, and her daughter, Mrs. Mary B. Kenrich of this city. She also leaves two grandchildren, Mrs. C. W. Shively, of Ravenna and Jesse Stallsmith of Ellsworth; two brothers, Daniel Stutler, of Lealand, Washington, and Jesse Stutler of Davenport, Iowa, and by a sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Stallsmith of Goshen. The deceased was a member of the Methodist Episcopal church since young womanhood and was a devoted, consistent Christian who was loved by all who knew her and who made many friends during her sojourn in this community. Her home was in Ellsworth, where and in Goshen, spent practically all of her life. A short service at the home Sunday morning, and 12 o'clock, sun time, at Bunker Hill church—Ravenna Republican.

Dublin Grange News.

Don't forget the box social to be held Tuesday evening, Feb. 29. The ladies will prepare the boxes. Come and have a good time as it will be four years before you will have an opportunity to attend another one of the kind.

Resolution of Respect.
Whereas, Our Heavenly Father in His infinite wisdom has seen fit to remove from our midst our dear sister, Belle Mayer, therefore, be it
Resolved by Dublin Grange, No. 1409, That in the death of Sister Mayer we have lost a dear sister and a faithful member of the grange, and to those of us who were privileged to know her more intimately as a kind neighbor and friend at all times. And further be it
Resolved, That we extend to the bereaved husband and friends our heartfelt sympathy. That a copy of these resolutions be spread on the minutes; also a copy be sent to the bereaved husband of the deceased sister and another published in The Mahoning Dispatch.

SPOILING A GOOD BREED

Certain breeders have proposed that the American poultry association make two sub-varieties of the Barred Plymouth Rock. There is decided opposition to this. Edwin C. Powell, editor of Farm and Home, poultry author and for many years a breeder of Barred Plymouth Rocks, is "agin" the proposition and expresses himself in his paper as follows.

In the craze for fine barring which for some years has been an obsession with many breeders of Barred Plymouth Rocks our most popular breed of poultry is likely to receive a stunning blow. A highly artificial standard has been maintained for years which requires a double mating system to produce exhibition birds. This has been carried so far that it is now proposed to establish sub-varieties, one for the breeding of pullets of an acceptable shade and barring and the other to produce cockerels. If the American poultry association adopts any such plan the doom of the Barred Plymouth Rock will be sealed forthwith.

The Barred Rock has become the most popular American variety because it got there first and produced more profit and satisfaction in the hands of poultry keepers generally than any other sort. It is not, however, the only popular or profitable fowl, as attested by the rapid rise of Rhode Island Reds and White Leghorns. One leading factor in the popularity of these as well as several other breeds or varieties, is that exhibition males and females are both produced from the same parents. This is never so under our present absurd standard for Barred Plymouth Rocks.

Some years ago the Black Spanish, Brown Leghorn, Buff Cochins and Light Brahma achieved great popularity. They were bred in large numbers by farmers and fanciers. The fanciers began to improve them to the extent that the Black Spanish is almost extinct. A double mating system is now practiced with Brown Leghorns and the Whites have long since outnumbered them.

Buff Cochins were bred until they became almost a ball of down and feathers while the utility values of the Grand Light Brahma were almost lost in the craze for heavy feathering. Fortunately for this variety a few far sighted breeders have called a halt before the Light Brahma was permanently lost to American poultry keepers.

With these facts in mind is the breeding of Barred Rocks to be carried to such an extreme that it, too, is to be sacrificed on the altar of absurdity? Breeders of four footed domestic animals do not find it necessary or advisable to maintain a double mating system, and false standards have always proved injurious to a breed. Only a few of the partly colored varieties of fowls have a standard which requires a double mating system. It has not been found necessary with all; it should not be with any.

Making Fowls of Quality.
Farmers lose heavily by putting half fat fowls and chickens on the market. A gain of 25 cents or more can be made by two weeks crate feeding, says R. V. Mitchell in Farm and Home. He advises the following simple, cheap and profitable method.

The feed should be finely ground. The finer the feed the more easily it can be digested. An excellent fattening ration consists of 24 pounds of white bolted corn meal, six pounds of white cracked corn, six pounds of wheat middlings, four pounds of pea meal or finely ground hulls oats. To this mixture enough buttermilk is added to make it of a consistency of thin batter. It requires about two pounds of the buttermilk to one pound of the dry mixture. The feed is thin enough so that it will pour out of the bucket.

If buttermilk cannot be had sour milk may be used. Care must be exercised not to use skim milk that has become rancid. It is better to use buttermilk, as it gives a better finish to the bird. For those who have neither buttermilk nor skim milk, about 15 per cent of meat scrap should be added to the ration and water used to moisten the feed.

Birds should not be crate fattened for more than two weeks. If they are fed for three weeks they make practically no gain the last week, thus making the cost of fattening greater. It is unnecessary to use grit or green food when crate fattening birds; neither are they given any water to drink during the time of fattening, as there is enough moisture in the feed.

A Unique Mulch for Berry Patch
Corn cobs make a splendid mulch for raspberries and blackberries, says Orin Crocker in Farm and Home. Spread through the patch in late fall or winter they will keep down weeds the following spring and summer and retain soil moisture with as evident success as any other medium. By replacing the top layer each season those underneath soon rot. Still another advantage of such a mulch is the clean underfooting it provides for pickers.

How Mr. Davis Got Rid of a Bad Cough.

"Some time ago I had a very bad cough," writes Lewis T. Davis, Blackwater, Del. "My brother McCabe Davis gave me a small bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. After taking this I bought half a dozen bottles of it but only used one of them as the cough left me and I have not been troubled since." For sale by all dealers.—Adv.

Needlework.

An acceptable gift for a man is a bag to hold two or three clean shirts in his suitcase when traveling. The bag is best made of gray linen, shaped like a long man's envelope, with the flap on the end. Make it just large enough to allow the shirts to fit in snugly. Bind the bag with colored braid and fasten the flap by a button. On the flap the man's initials may be embroidered.

Elderberries and their leaves make attractive designs for fancy work of different sorts. The berries themselves look natural because the wood on beads which are used to represent them are exact in size and coloring. Tan colored linen shows off this especial pattern to the best advantage.

To Clean Gloves.

Even quite worn kid gloves may be rendered clean, soft and of agreeable odor by the following method.

Put gloves on hands and wash with a soft cloth dipped freely in gasoline, away from fire or flame. While still wet shake scented talcum powder over them generously, gently rubbing the powder in until the gloves are dry. Remove, and you will find that the powder has made your gloves ready to wear. Superfluous powder may be removed by shaking or softly brushing.

Stuffed Potatoes

A nice way to vary baked potatoes is to cut a slice from the top of each and scrape out the inside. Mash, season with salt, pepper, chopped parsley, if liked, and butter, and heat in a little hot milk; add two well beaten eggs. Refill the skins, sprinkle with grated cheese, and bake in a hot oven about six minutes.
